The student will be able to:
1. Define communication and contrast it with mass communication.
2. Explain and compare four major concepts of mass communications operation and control used throughout the world today.
3. Describe the primary roles the mass communications system plays in our society.
4. Describe some of the current criticisms of mass media performance and ethical values.
5. Analyze journalistic coverage of modern war and how that coverage has changed since WW II.
6. List several reasons that reporters turned toward interpretive styles in coping with twentieth-century news trends.
7. Describe economic and social changes that have affected the newspaper industry, and how newspapers have responded to them.
8. Analyze newspaper industry trends, specifically in such areas as technological innovation, competition for advertising dollars, and the emerging national press.
9. List and discuss the seven primary roles of the community newspaper.
10. Trace the historical development of photography in general and photojournalism in particular.
11. Describe recent changes in the nature of the magazine industry, especially niche marketing to increasingly fragmented audiences.
12. Analyze current industry trends, especially the use of computers in graphic design and in targeting audiences.
13. Discuss some concerns facing the book industry, and cite at least five trends that appear favorable for the book industry’s future.
14. Evaluate the impact television has had on the radio industry, as well as the changes radio underwent in coping with TV as a competitor.
15. Describe various contemporary radio formats and explain why they are employed.
16. Comment on such current issues within the radio industry as deregulation and moral concern over content.
17. Describe the size and scope of the recording industry and discuss some of its history.
18. Discuss matters of current concern within the recording industry, such as counterfeiting and political and social pressure to monitor lyrics dealing with violence, drugs, and sex.
19. Analyze television news, and comment on five widespread criticisms of TV news.
20. List five major trends currently affecting the television industry.
21. Discuss current criticisms of the advertising field as well as industry responses to such criticism.
22. Discuss the elements of libel – specifically publication, identification, defamation, and fault – and how each can be established.
23. Explain the four categories of privacy invasion, and cite examples of ways the mass media might become embroiled in each.
24. List the current criteria required to establish a credible case of obscenity, and debate the Supreme Court’s criteria where the mass media are concerned.
25. Describe some of the difficulties journalists face in their relationships with news sources, conflicts of interest, gifts and subsidies, and confidentiality.
26. Discuss contemporary issues in the field, such as reporting about AIDS victims, checkbook journalism, news leads, stage media events, and “outing” homosexuals.
27. Discuss some of the central problems journalists face in reporting the news from abroad.
28. Discuss current trends affecting international print and broadcast media, international advertising, public relations, and communications research.
29. Debate the ethical and legal issues that digital technology creates in such areas as privacy protection and falsification.
