Learning outcomes, including any relevant competencies listed in the Minnesota Transfer Curriculum:

Goal I – Communication
To develop writers and speakers who use the English language effectively and who read, write, speak, and listen critically. As a base, all students should complete introductory communication requirements early in their collegiate studies. Writing competency is an ongoing process to be reinforced through writing-intensive courses and writing across the curriculum. Speaking and listening skills need reinforcement through multiple opportunities for interpersonal communication, public speaking, and discussion.

Students will be able to:

a. Participate effectively in groups with emphasis on listening, critical and reflective thinking, and responding.
b. Locate, evaluate, and synthesize in a responsible manner material from diverse sources and points of view.
c. Construct logical and coherent arguments.

Goal VII – Human Diversity
To increase students understanding of individual and group differences (e.g. race, gender, class) and their knowledge of the traditions and values of various groups in the United States. Students should be able to evaluate the United States’ historical and contemporary responses to group differences.

Students will be able to:

a. Understand the development of and the changing meanings of group identities in the United States’ history and culture.
b. Demonstrate an awareness of the individual and institutional dynamics of unequal power relations between groups in contemporary society.
c. Analyze their own attitudes, behaviors, concepts and beliefs regarding diversity, racism, and bigotry.
d. Describe and discuss the experience and contributions (political, social, economic, etc.) of the many groups that shape American society and culture, in particular those groups that have suffered discrimination and exclusion.

Student assessment methods:
Individual writing assignments, small and large group discussions that include writing assignments, essay exams. In addition, points for attendance, all quizzes, and individual/group assignments will be given a point value. The number of points accumulated will be divided by the total points possible and will be converted to a letter grade.

Use of instructional technology (includes software, interactive video and other instructional technologies):

Outline of the major course content:
The classroom format incorporates both large and small group instruction as well as individual assignments. Classroom activities will include the examination of various reading assignments taken from the textbooks used at the Mesabi Campus.

“Efficient Reading I” offers a step-by-step approach designed to help students improve their reading skills in the following nine areas:

1. Vocabulary skills development and building personal vocabulary
2. Defining the terms General and Specific
3. Finding the topic and the main idea
4. The function of supporting sentences
5. Other sentence functions
6. Identifying different types of paragraphs
7. Reading longer selections
8. Reading a textbook chapter
9. Note taking techniques
